DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 30 January 2006 has been entered.

Election/Restrictions

2. Claims 13-22 and 24 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 18 January 2005.

3. Applicant's election with traverse of species 1 in the reply filed on 18 January 2005 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that polycarbonate is a synthetic plastic. This is not found persuasive because while the examiner agrees that polycarbonate is a synthetic plastic, it is a species of synthetic plastic-not all synthetic plastics are polycarbonates.

4. This application contains claims 13-22 and 24 drawn to an invention nonelected with traverse in the reply filed on 18 January 2005. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Gurusamy et al US006361423B2, as set forth in the Office action mailed 15 April 2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 1-12, 23 and 25-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sung, US006679243B2 in view of Gurusamy et al, US006361423B2, as set forth in the Office action mailed 15 April 2005.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed 30 January 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that while '423 discloses that the drive element and removable disk holder may comprise synthetic plastic components '423 do not teach or suggest a conditioning disk comprising a synthetic plastic carrier, as the term "carrier" is defined in applicant's specification. The examiner disagrees. Applicant has defined the structure of the carrier in several embodiments, one of which defines the carrier as a separate structure that is attached to the substrate that supports the conditioning surface, as shown for example in applicant's figure 3. "In the embodiment shown in Fig. 3, the abrasive particles 6 and matrix material 8 are affixed to a flexible substrate 12 which is mounted on a rigid carrier 14. The substrate 12 is formed of any suitable material such as, for example, stainless steel foil. The carrier 14 provides rigid support for the substrate 12 and is formed of any suitable material such as, for example, a stainless steel shim having of a thickness sufficient to provide adequate structural support. The flexible substrate 12 is affixed to the carrier 14 with an adhesive such as, for example AF- 163-2K aerospace epoxy which is available from Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company, St. Paul, Minnesota. The substrate 12 may also be attached to the carrier 14 with known mechanical fasteners such as rivets or screws.", specification, page 8. It is the examiner's position that the carrier of '423 clearly anticipates the broadly claimed invention. It is further noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., the specific structure of the carrier) is not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Applicant has not claimed that the carrier and substrate are of one piece, or are the same structure.

Conclusion

9. This is a Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114 of applicant's earlier Application No. 10/800,516. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the earlier application and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the earlier application. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action in this case. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no, however, event will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
